Dear Customer:

Across our nation, businesses are faced with the new normal that the COVID-19 crisis has thrust upon us. We remain open for business, but we are adapting how we do business to safeguard the safety and health of our employees and customers.

These changes are not in response to any specific concerns to our communities, but rather represent our adaptation of the recommendations of applicable government and health organizations.

In an abundance of caution, we are implementing a social distancing/work from home policy. Administrative staff will work from home if they are able to do their jobs remotely. Employees involved in the production and delivery of our products will remain six feet away from one another and customers. Hand washing and common-sense actions such as staying at home if having symptoms are part of our standard operating procedures.

As the science and response to the coronavirus evolves, so will our operations and protocols. We will continue to keep you informed and work with you to meet the needs of your own business.

Hinkle will adapt to meet the challenges that face our company and our communities. While we are temporarily changing how we do business, please know what will never change is our commitment to serving our customers.

If you have any questions or concerns, please reach out to your Hinkle representative or me, at larry.winkleman@hinklecontracting.com or 859-987-3670.
